Gries "Fraud" and finds Evidence That Looks Peculiar.

Two Returns from One Election District, and Bad Luck to Some One, Its Thirteenth.

In Both Bradley (Dem.) Has a Majority, and the Police Accept the Highest as Right.

BOYS STRANGE FIND OF BALLOTS.

John Stecker Discovers Official Votes for Campbell in the Street Near a Polling Place and the Police Are Investigating.

The police returns of the election in the Ninth Congressional District give Thomas J. Bradley, the Democratic candidate, 1,607 plurality over Timothy J. Campbell, the Republican candidate. With three election districts to hear from Campbell had a plurality of 40. Unofficial returns from two of these districts gave him 149 additional plurality. The first totals were: Campbell, 8,087; Bradley, 8,087. De Leon (Socialist), 2,200. Of the three missing districts two returns came from the Thirteenth Election District. One gave Bradley 162, and Campbell 83. The police accepted the highest Bradley figure as correct, and gave out the vote of the district as Bradley, 10,328; Campbell, 9,124. Bradley's plurality, 1,507. Campbell claimed fraud and recovered a court order which John Stecker found near the Fourth Election District poll, three official ballots marked by voters for Timothy J. Campbell. The police, however, who are investigating the matter, turned them over to Police Captain J. J. Connelley, who said a strict investigation will be made.

COASTING NOT ALLOWED.

The Police Have the Power to Prevent It, in Spite of the Absence of an Ordinance.

The idea has gone forth among cyclists that since it has been discovered that there is no ordinance in existence against coasting on the city streets, it can be indulged in with impunity. It is a mistake, however, to suppose that because there is no ordinance against it the police will not interfere and stop coasting. They have the right to arrest anyone for what they consider dangerous riding, and the police magistrates can hold and fine the offender. The police are dangerous, and no special ordinance is required. Venturesome cyclists should remember this and not attempt to coast in the city.

In Toronto the Pedestrians' Protective Association has been formed. Toronto has a population of 225,000, and it is said that there are more cyclists than anywhere in America. So many pedestrians have been killed by cyclists that the association was organized.

The insurance act will indemnify its beneficiaries in the event of a fire down by a bicycle.

December 1 next Chief Consul Robert Gentle, of the New Jersey State Division of the L. A. W., will lay down the reins of leadership and retire to private life. Aided by an able staff, Mr. Gentle has accomplished much for the L. A. W. in the past. Good roads, cycle paths, the repeal of obnoxious laws and the publication of a splendid road book are some of the good work which have been done during his incumbency of the office. He wishes before he retires to see the membership of the State Division reach 100,000 and the members have been asked to aid him.

During the coming winter the division intends adding to the number of the free use of bicycles by all the railroads of the State, and a bill similar to the Armstrong bill has been framed and will be introduced to the Legislature early in the session. The division also desires to abolish every toll road in the State, and will aim to accomplish it through legislative enactment.

There is a great desire on the part of the members of the New York State division of the L. A. W. to win one of the wheelmen's honor badges which are given as a reward for the securing of members. The badge is the richest and most beautiful decoration ever offered to L. A. W. members. They are made by skillful jewelers from a most artistic design, somewhat resembling the celebrated French Cross of the Legion of Honor, with solid silver and white enamel, richly colored enamel facings of royal purple, white and green. This is suspended from a heavy ribbon of watered silk, producing a splendid effect. Many of the division have already registered with Secretary Treasurer Bull their applications for this honor badge, but as each competitor must obtain from twelve to fifteen new applicants for membership before becoming entitled to receive the badge, it is not likely that more than a limited number will become its possessors.

The officers of the division have just issued a circular announcing that members who wish to secure the honor badge and are discouraged by their probable inability to obtain the requisite number of members during the year 1896, may, by obtaining one new member during the present year, go on and secure the badge. The applications at any time during the coming year. Many new members are taking advantage of this offer, and the number of applicants from the New York division during the present week will probably double the number whose names appeared in the last copy of the "Bulletin." The division will receive full printed information regarding the badge and the means of obtaining it, by addressing W. B. Bull, secretary-treasurer, No. 311 Vanderbilt building, New York.

A queer method of illustrating the value of good roads originated in Massachusetts. Money was raised and several miles of road were built, but at different points, the draw being to teach the farmers an object lesson. A farmer driving to market would draw his produce over a rutted and uneven highway and eventually strike the good road. For a mile he would go skimming on his way to town, but only a mile. When he got into the mire and mud, he began to comprehend that there was something about good roads which was greatly in his favor.

OLD CLOTHES, NOT DIAMONDS.

John Levy Swears He Deals in Cast-Off Garments Instead of Gems.

The action for an absolute divorce taken by John Levy against his wife Helen came before Justice Smyth in Supreme Court Chambers yesterday on a motion to grant her counsel fees and attorney's fees. In her affidavit Mrs. Levy alleged that her husband was a diamond broker, wealthy, and lives in a handsome flat in Forty-third street. She denied the charge he made against her and asked for $250 counsel fees and $30 a week alimony.

Mrs. Levy's counsel submitted an affidavit stating that his client, instead of being a diamond broker, is a pedler of second-hand clothing.

The court refused to allow the affidavit to be read. He then allowed Mrs. Levy $50 counsel fees and $5 per week alimony.

ODD PENALTIES OF ELECTION BETS.

Portly Gentleman Walks Down Broadway with One Foot Bare—New Jersey Man Must Eat Crow.

A stout, middle-aged man, in flawless apparel, with a single exception, walked painfully down Broadway yesterday. His long coat had just the right amount of flutter to its skirts, his trousers had just the correct quantity of crease, there was no better silk hat on the promenade than that worn by this respectable citizen. One foot was covered by a perfectly polished boot, topped by pearl-covered spats; the other foot was naked.

Close behind followed a perfect valet bearing the odd shoe and spat. "That's this name?" demanded Police-man Conners, who had run over to see what the crowd was about.

"Election bet," said the portly party.

This good loser refused to give his name. There were four elderly men who marched solemnly around Madison square yesterday with their heads shaven from the left side of their faces.

The crowd cheered them, and followed in mock procession. Finally, the four mounted a wagon, and the most patriarchal of the half-whiskered ones prepared to make a speech.

"Gentlemen and ladies," he began, "you probably have guessed that we are here in pursuance of a pledge. You are correct. You doubtless think you have divined that the election yesterday went contrary to our expectations. I will not deny this. But we have another purpose in coming here to-day." The other men opened safes and took out bottles. "We are the agents of God's will," he said, "and to which you must attribute the growth of our beards. It was only applied to one

FIERY DEATH FOR BABIES.

Mother, Alleged to Be Insane, Denies That She Attempted to Roast Her Two Children.

Mrs. Ella Shaughnessy, thirty-eight years old, of No. 116 Pavonia avenue, Jersey City, who was arrested Tuesday night upon a charge of attempting to burn her two little children, was yesterday arraigned before Police Justice Potts in the First Criminal Court and remanded for further examination.

Bernard Stahl, who lives at No. 118 Pavonia avenue, next door to Mrs. Shaughnessy, appeared as complainant. Her husband, Stahl, said, was away Tuesday night. He was about to retire when he smelled smoke, as if from burning oil. Upon investigating he saw smoke issuing from the windows of Mrs. Shaughnessy's apartments. He rushed from his house into the street, in which Mrs. Shaughnessy lives. The hallway in front of her apartments, he says, was steaming with oil-soaked excelsior, which was burning fiercely. With a number of tenants in the house, who responded to his alarm, Stahl succeeded in extinguishing the blaze.

Mrs. Shaughnessy's apartments were full of smoke, and had the fire been put out, her children would have been suffocated. Mrs. Shaughnessy was arrested and locked up in the Second Precinct Station.

She was arraigned before Justice Potts yesterday. Mrs. Shaughnessy denied having set fire to the excelsior or that she had any attention of suffocating her children. They were far from the room in which the blazing mass was found, she said. The police say that the woman had acted strangely for some time. Her husband, they also state, has lately not been a happy one. Several weeks ago she fell down stairs. Her head struck the hard stairway and she also sustained internal injuries. Since the accident she has acted queerly, and it is believed her mind is affected.

MORE PAY FOR KINDERGARTEN.

Board of Education Allows Dr. Jenny Merrill an Increase of $500 a Year.

The Board of Education got through a great deal of business during its two hours' session yesterday. Commissioner Beneville proposed a resolution relating to the transfer of children from one school to another, and authorizing the City Superintendent to make such transfers, so that the children attending school shall be residents of the immediate neighborhood, as near as possible. After some discussion the resolution was adopted.

Commissioner Hubbell announced that the Committee on High School sites had plans in view for temporary occupation of a school building, to be ready for 3,000 pupils within three months. The salary of Dr. Jenny B. Merrill, appointed Supervisor of Kindergartens at $2,000 a year, was increased to $2,500. Mr. Hubbell acted as the touch of a champion. He said the pay was in adequate, compared with salaries in other cities. The added salary was at last allowed, the vote standing 12 to 9 on the proposition.

IMPOSED A NOVEL SENTENCE.

Magistrate Compels a Boy to Stand Up with His Face Against the Wall for Half an Hour.

Magistrate Simms in the Centre Street Police Court yesterday imposed a novel sentence upon Michael Dufolino, a boy who was brought before him charged with starting bonfires on election night on the asphalt pavement at the lower end of Mulberry street.

The Court affected to be greatly shocked at the story told by the officer who arrested Michael, and, after thinking a few moments, ordered that the lad be taken over to the lower end of the court-room and stood up against the wall with his face toward it. Michael was greatly offended, and started on his sentence with great reluctance. But he soon grew weary of looking at the cracks, and with tears in his eyes he begged the policeman who watched him to let him go. Finally the Court relented, and reducing the sentence released Michael, after exacting a promise that the lad would never be bad any more.

WORK AND INCREASED WAGES.

Report of a Sudden Improvement in Railroad Shops.

Pittsburg, Nov. 4.—The Leader publishes the following this afternoon:

For about three years the skilled workmen employed in the Pennsylvania Railroad shops between Pittsburg and Altoona have been working only five days in the week and only eight hours a day. This morning the general superintendent of the division issued an order restoring all shop men to work full time as twelve hours a day and at an advance in their wages of ten cents per day all around.

The office to the above effect was posted at 9 o'clock this morning in the Twenty-eighth and Thirty-third street shops. As a result 600 idle men who had anticipated the ruin of affairs were on hand and all went to work.

WANTS $10,000 AS A CALM.
Louise Miller Sues a Brooklyn Butcher, Who, She Says, Slandered Her.

Alexander McDielen, a wholesale butcher, of No. 2030 Fulton street, Brooklyn, is defendant in a $10,000 suit for slander, brought by Louise Miller, of No. 43 Hull street.

The butcher is a member of a social club, known as the "Jolly Fifteen." They had an outing at Canarsie a fortnight ago. His wife objected to his attending without her. "I'll follow you to Canarsie if you don't take me along," she said.

True to her promise, she appeared with a companion, Miss Margaret Ryan, of No. 509 Halsey street.

Miss Miller, the plaintiff, in the suit for slander, was employed as cashier at the hotel where the Jolly Fifteen dined. It is said Mrs. McDielen charged her husband with being a scoundrel, and declared that he was carrying on an intrigue with Miss Miller. Miss Miller faintly away, and the rowdies says she heard Mrs. Dickie made several remarks which tended to bear out his wife's accusations. It is on this that her suit is based.

VIOLINIST HALIR IS HERE.

The Famous German Musician Will Give Concerts in This Country.

Carl Halir, the famous German violinist and director of the Royal High School of Music of Berlin, arrived here yesterday on the steamship Trave. He studied his art under the tutelage of Joachim, and the European critics pronounce him one of the greatest violinists living.

Halir will give a number of concerts while here, and will play on the celebrated Stradivarius violin, known as the "Red Strad," which was presented to Joachim in the city of London on the occasion of his fiftieth jubilee. The instrument was loaned by Joachim to Halir for his American tour.

FATALLY BURNED AT A FIRE.

Nathan Brookholtz, eighteen years old, of No. 283 Stanton street, and employed in the paint store of Isaac Teitelbaum, at No. 809 Ninth street, was probably fatally burned yesterday in the cellar of the paint store, into which he went with a lighted candle. His clothes caught fire from the candle, and before aid arrived the flames were extinguished the young man was burned from head to foot. The cellar caught fire and caused a panic among the men above, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.
